Independent Power Systems (IPS) is one of only a handful of renewable energy contractors on the Front Range that has extensive experience with small wind installations. IPS has designed and installed wind systems since 1996, and our guy-less, tilt-down wind tower is one of the most sought after designs in the industry. IPS proudly offers small wind machines from Bergey, SouthWest Windpower , ARE, and Kestral. IPS can design and install a grid-tie or off grid standalone wind system (local regulations permitting) for your home and business. IPS small wind installations can be found throughout the Rocky Mountain West including Wyoming , South Dakota , Montana and as far away as Afghanistan . As the regulatory landscape regarding small wind evolves IPS hopes to install small wind machines in Colorado . Currently, windspeed, local regulations and available land area determine the amount of power your wind machine will generate. Learn more about IPS at: <http://www.solarips.com>.
