

Upload	Directory	News	Photos	Events	Your Hub: Adams County	DenverPost.com	Shopping	Autos	Real Estate	Jobs	Classifieds
--------	-----------	------	--------	--------	------------------------	----------------	----------	-------	-------------	------	-------------

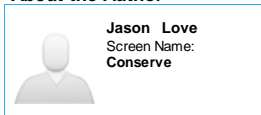

Denver Energy Challenge to offer residents free services

Posted: 08/19/2011 05:59:06 AM MDT Updated: 08/19/2011 05:59:06 AM MDT Author: Conserve

Article | Comments | Print | Email | Share This | Tweet | Facebook

Tags: News Denver Energy Challenge Free services Audits Conservation

About the Author

Jason Love
Screen Name:
Conserve

Are you interested in saving money, energy and improving the comfort of your home?

Is your home too hot in the summer or do you need a sweater and scarf inside during the winter?

The Denver Energy Challenge, will provide Denvers residents with free neighborhood energy and retrofitting services available through a new Energy Advisor Program. It is designed to help residents in Denver improve the energy efficiency of their homes, reduce their utility bills and have a positive impact on the environment.

The Center for ReSource Conservation, a long-standing Colorado environmental non-profit organization, was contracted by the city of Denver along with Revisions International, David Youngstrom, and Shaw Environmental & Infrastructure Group to provide Energy Advisors to all Denver residents.

It is a free service that removes barriers that may prevent a homeowner from implementing recommendations from their home energy audits - taking them from audit to action.

Energy Advisors walk residents through the energy audit process and then help them prioritize installations, contact contractors, and ensure that appropriate rebates are applied for and received. Energy Advisors can be in the home while the work is being done, and will perform quality assurance checks of all installations.

To learn more or to schedule an appointment, contact the Denver Energy Challenge at homeenergy@denvergov.org or go to their website: <http://www.denverenergy.org>.

We can all challenge ourselves to improve energy efficiency in our homes, contact the Denver Energy Challenge to find out how.

From The Denver Post

TOP STORIES

- Estranged husband indicted in 2003 death of Heather DeWild
- Xcel Energy plans to move planned natural-gas pipeline after public outcry
- Feds' new homeless stats run contrary to life on streets
- Patriots' Belichick knows all about Tim Tebow's qualities
- New limits on bank card fees backfire on shops that thrive on small purchases

Everyone has a story.

YourHub.com on Facebook

Like

2,657 people like YourHub.com.

Mary	Melissa	Filip	Wayne	Frank
Betty	Kates	Stanley	Donna	Hanan

Facebook social plugin

jlove@conservationcenter.org

www.conservationcenter.org

Share

Short URL http://dpo.st/pMmnul

Tweet
Facebook
Stumbleupon
Reddit
Digg

You might be interested in:

◀

Denver Energy Challenge to offer residents free services
Read More >>

Boulder's Wind Challenge ends next week
Read More >>

U.S. General Services Administration Adds A Little Green To Denver West
Read More >>

Jefferson County 2007 Public Health Champions
Read More >>

Jefferson County public health champions
Read More >>

▶